

Finding a Title

Finding a Title – Homepage

Click 'Find a Book' to see your full list of accessible e-books.

Finding a Title – Browse 1/3

Home Find Topic Pages Find a Book Tools

Narrow Your Book Results

Clear all selections

Collections

- All Collections
- Academic Core
- Brill Religion Collection
- F A Davis Collection

Categories

- All Subjects
- Art
- Business
- Food & Beverage
- General Reference
  - Bilinguals
  - Biography
  - Dictionaries

Books

Title contains:

32 Books Found in A

The A to Z of Corporate Social Responsibility
A complete reference on CSR, compiled by the Institute for Corporate Cultural Affairs (the ICCA). The entries have been written by leading experts, leading global thinkers and CSR practitioners.

Academic Press Dictionary of Science and Technology
Contains complete, up-to-date definitions for all areas of science and technology. The definitions are clear and accessible to the nonspecialist, yet they provide all the technical information that the specialist needs. Entries range from large general fields, such as Medicine, to newer, more highly focused fields, such as Chaos.

Advanced Practice Nursing of Adults in Acute Care
Written by a Clinical Nurse Specialist for Clinical Nurse Specialists, this text explores the expanding roles and responsibilities of the CNS from core competencies and theoretical foundations for practice to caring for

The default view is an alphabetical list of all titles live on your account.
Click on a letter to browse titles beginning with that letter.

Finding a Title – Browse 2/3

The screenshot shows the Credo Reference website interface. At the top, there are navigation links: Home, Find Topic Pages, Find a Book, and Tools. Below this, the page is titled 'Narrow Your Book Results' with a sub-header 'All B C D N O'. On the left side, there is a sidebar with 'Collections' (All Collections, Academic Core) and 'Categories' (All Subjects, Art, Business, Food & Beverage, General Reference, Bilinguals, Biography, Dictionaries, Encyclopedias, Quotations, Geography, History, Language). The 'Food & Beverage' category is highlighted with a red box and a red arrow. The main content area shows a list of books under the heading 'Books' with a sub-header '7 Books Found in Food & Beverage'. The first three books listed are: 'Benders' Dictionary of Nutrition and Food Technology', 'Cambridge World History of Food', and 'The Deluxe Food Lover's Companion'. Each book entry includes a small thumbnail image and a brief description.

Home Find Topic Pages Find a Book Tools

Narrow Your Book Results All B C D N O Details | List

Clear all selections

Collections

- All Collections
- Academic Core

Categories

- All Subjects
- Art
- Business
- Food & Beverage
- General Reference
- Bilinguals
- Biography
- Dictionaries
- Encyclopedias
- Quotations
- Geography
- History
- Language

Books 7 Books Found in Food & Beverage

Title contains:

Benders' Dictionary of Nutrition and Food Technology
Provides succinct, authoritative definitions of over 6100 terms in nutrition and food technology. Also includes nutrient composition data for foods and an appendix with nutrient intake and other useful data.

Cambridge World History of Food
Ranging from the eating habits of our prehistoric ancestors to food-related policy issues we face today, this work covers the full spectrum of foods that have been hunted, gathered, cultivated, and domesticated; their nutritional makeup and uses; and their impact on cultures and demography. It offers a geographical perspective on the history and culture of food and drink and takes up subjects from food fads, prejudices, and taboos to questions of food toxins, additives, labeling, and entitlements. It culminates in a dictionary that identifies and sketches out brief histories of plant foods mentioned in the text and additionally supplies thousands of common names and synonyms for those foods.

The Deluxe Food Lover's Companion
Based on Barron's popular and authoritative The New Food Lover's Companion, this enlarged and enhanced new reference volume was written for discerning home chefs and everybody else who wants to become more knowledgeable about good food and elegant dining. The updated version includes an

Click a subject on the left to filter your titles by subject.

Finding a Title – Browse 3/3

Narrow Your Book Results

Clear all selections

Collections

- All Collections
- Academic Core
- Brill Religion Collection
- F A Davis Collection

Categories

- All Subjects
- Art
- Business
- Food & Beverage
- General Reference
- Bilinguals
- Biography

Books 2 Books Found

Title contains:

	Encyclopaedia of Judaism Provides a full and reliable account of Judaism, beginning in ancient Israelite times and extending to our own day.
	The New Encyclopedia of Judaism Includes hundreds of special articles covering subjects in analytical depth, as well as short biographies of the major figures in the story of Judaism.

Use the “Title contains” option to find an e-book by title keyword.
Click the title to open the book’s table of contents.

Finding a Title – By Collection

The screenshot shows the Credo Reference interface. At the top is a navigation bar with links: Home, Find Topic Pages, Find a Book, and Tools. Below this is a sidebar on the left titled 'Narrow Your Book Results'. It contains three sections: 'Collections' with links for 'All Collections', 'Academic Core', 'Brill Religion Collection' (highlighted with a grey box and an arrow), and 'F A Davis Collection'; 'Categories' with links for 'All Subjects', 'Religion', and 'Social Sciences'; and 'Library Links' with links for 'Your Library Home Page', 'Your Library Catalog', and 'Your Library Resources'. The main content area is titled 'Books' and shows '6 Books Found in Brill Religion Collection'. It includes a search bar labeled 'Title contains:' and a list of three books, each with a cover image and a description:

- The Brill Dictionary of Religion
Entries cover topics on religion as an element of daily life and public discourse. Includes introduction
- Dictionary of Gnosis and Western Esotericism
Covers the entire domain of "Gnosis and Western Esotericism" from the period of Late Antiquity to the present.
- Encyclopaedia of Judaism
Provides a full and reliable account of Judaism, beginning in ancient Israelite times and extending to our own day.

Click a Collection on the left to filter your titles by collection.

Finding a Title – Entry Page

The screenshot shows the entry page for 'The Biblical Foundations of Judaism' in the Encyclopaedia of Judaism. The page layout includes a search bar on the left, a list of search engines, and a main content area with the title 'The Biblical Foundations of Judaism' in an orange header. The text discusses the Pentateuch, the creation of Israel, and the role of Moses. In the top right corner, there is a breadcrumb trail: 'Religion > Encyclopaedia of Judaism'. Below this, there are several action buttons: 'Listen', 'Email', 'Print', 'Save', 'Share & Export', and 'Translate Entry'. A grey arrow points from the 'Encyclopaedia of Judaism' link in the breadcrumb trail to a text box at the bottom of the slide.

Search
in Encyclopaedia of Judaism

Religion > Encyclopaedia of Judaism

Listen Email Print Save Share & Export Translate Entry

The Biblical Foundations of Judaism

THE Pentateuch, the five books of Moses, as a single narrative, constitute the primary canon of every ancient Judaism known to us. They contain an account of the creation of a polity, Israel. Having set out the adventures of humans from a single creature (Adam) in a restricted environment (a garden) to a set of nations distributed throughout the world, the narrative depicts the creation of one particular family (Abraham's). First it depicts the ancestor on his way from the core (Mesopotamia) to the periphery (Canaan) of the inhabited world in accordance with the divine program of settlement (see Gen. 1:28: "fill the earth") and subsequent to the scattering of humans from the city of Babel. The racial <sup>26</sup> basis of Israel is firmly established.

In the book of Exodus the nation exists as a "family of Jacob" but without any further identity except in relation to another culture and society: it is a nation of slaves. But it then receives what is viewed as constitutive of a fully-fledged nation: a leader, a law, and a land. Such a definition of nationhood belongs perhaps less to the world of the ancient Near East than to the Hellenized Levant. The notion that a nation needs an ancestor, lawgiver, constitution, and its own territory is arguably the product of a fusion of Oriental and Greek ideas and is reflected not only in the Judean literature but in the great national histories written (in Greek!) by Manetho, Berossus, and Philo of Byblos.

The problem of dating this narrative does not matter so much as its function. Central to the notion of national identity is a constitution. In a monarchy, that role may be taken by the king—indeed, the very idea of "nation" tends to be replaced by "subjects of the king." But in an imperial context, national identity required other symbols, such as a distinctive cult or law. For from the Persian empire onwards, the Jewish "nation" had, in fact, been encouraged to live according to its own laws and to focus upon its own Temple. It was very probably at that time rather than earlier that the literature of the Mosaic canon originated. The bringer of that defining constitution is the ancient figure of Moses, who, if not acknowledged as the founder of the Temple itself (if Hecataeus is incorrect), was the founder of the cult, in the form of the institution of ark, altar, and priesthood.

Find a link to your Table of Contents page on the top right corner of the entry. Click the name of the title.

Questions?

Questions?

Of any kind!

literatisupport@credoreference.com

Want a training? (It's free)

training@credoreference.com